

The column will be suspended the latter part of this week when the writer goes to Sarasota, Fla., to visit his father, W. O. Washburn, 84, who was hospitalized Saturday with a broken leg in a fall at his home.

The almost infallible Associated Press telephoned me Sunday night to offer emergency cut-in service on our teletype as the signing of the Korean truce was announced—an offer that was declined.

This was an instance when previous headlines virtually discounted the news value of the actual event. Our paper and most of the others carried headlines last Friday saying the armistice agreement was expected to be signed Sunday or Monday.

As for the effect of the truce, it means there is an end to shooting and killing, and the Korean incident has a position in history considerably higher than the one assigned it by some of the newspaper correspondents and radio commentators. Or so it seems to me.

It is true that we lost the war, if you assume we went into it to win—which we did not.

And it is true that the end of it is full of bafflement and confusion, if you assume there is any clear understanding and secure peace elsewhere in the world—which I don't.

Therefore it should be obvious that our Korean experience is a brand new chapter in American history—a defensive engagement without expectation of victory—and a chapter likely to be repeated in the future. For today the United States is a world-wide power, like Great Britain in an earlier day, and wars without victory are the common and bitter and expensive experience in this No. 1 position.

If I were to risk a summary on Korea I would say that regardless of party or President we would have gone into that unhappy land when we did and fought the war just about as we did, because our moral sense told us this was the obligation of a United Nations member. But the experience has chilled our faith and confidence in Europe; and I rather imagine Europe is going to find that while we left American boys on the Korean battlefield the same battlefield tried a lot of American dollars that were scheduled to be delivered to Europe.

We owe that much to the memory of our dead, and to the living so that their future won't be risked without the threat of retaliation should allies again fail us.

And finally, justice compels one to say that too many Americans have thought to find in books the remedies for all the world's ills and ran recklessly through our founding fathers' warning against "entangling alliances." It is granted that no nation can live alone today; but the Korean war has taught us that alliances are a calculated risk, with two to watch instead of one—both your friend and the enemy.

You buy this kind of knowledge in battle. You don't get it from books. We are older and wiser, and no man died in vain in Korea while helping America along the historic road all nations must travel.

Small Postoffices May Be Closed
By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas may be losing some of its small postoffices one of these days. The Post Office Department is checking into the possibility of replacing various fourth-class offices with rural route service.

Right now, the department has notified Arkansas members of Congress that it is investigating to see what can be done to replace "expensive, out-moded fourth-class post offices with rural route services" in 40 Arkansas counties. The counties include Nevada.

Since the Republicans are in control, the Arkansas congressmen generally doubt that they will have much to say about the matter, one way or another.

However, the letter to the congressmen concludes:

"Please understand that none of these postoffices will be discontinued and services replaced until you have had an opportunity to discuss individual cases with us."

Rp. Mills commented wryly, "We can discuss it but we probably can't do anything about it."

Mills said he is glad it is the Republicans, not the Democrats, who are "undertaking to close the small postoffices."

"They'll stir up a hornets nest from one end of the country to the other," he said.

Some members of Congress think the maneuver is merely political—that the Post Office Department has hit upon a device to get rid of some Democratic postmasters and replace them with Republican rural mail carriers.

Others say, however, that savings can be effected through elimination of many small fourth-class postoffices which take in much less each year than the postmaster is paid.

In letters to the Arkansas representatives, the department said fourth class offices in these counties are being surveyed.

100,000 East Germans Cross Line for Food

By KENNETH BRODNEY
BERLIN (UPI)—More than 100,000 hungry East Germans poured into West Berlin today from every part of the Soviet zone to get "forbidden" food under President Eisenhower's relief program.

Men, women and children dressed in broken shoes, ragged dresses and patched pants—their broken teeth and splotched faces showing years of hunger—jammed distribution centers in West Berlin.

Many have come hundreds of miles, from towns in Saxony on the Czechoslovak border in the south and from as far north as the Baltic sea island of Ruegen," an official said.

Some women left their homes Saturday and early Sunday to be in West Berlin for the first day of the two-week program to carry out President Eisenhower's relief offer. It cost some a day's wages to get the food unobtainable at home.

Officials estimated more than 100,000 East Germans already had crossed into West Berlin by early afternoon with more arriving on every train from the surrounding Soviet zone. Thousands more were expected this evening after work.

Most persons carried away four or five parcels for other members of their families. Some arrived with as many as 14 identification cards and carted away the five-pound parcels in suitcases.

An official said the program would not be limited to the originally-scheduled 1,000,000 parcels.

"We will give out 2,000,000 or more—as many as are demanded and as long as there are people who want it," he said.

An official West Berlin government spokesman said scattered reports of Communist zone police seizing food from returning residents had been received but none of large-scale confiscations.

"The situation is explosive," he said. "If the Communist police really clamp down and search these people and take away their food, it will cause just one thing—a new wave of anti-Communist hate."

Weekend Wrecks Bring Damage to Several Vehicles

Three weekend wrecks were reported by city police today, two resulting in fairly heavy property damage but nobody was hurt.

Saturday autos driven by Loretta Munro and Velma Cox collided on South Elm with heavy damage to both vehicles. Also on Saturday vehicles driven by R. A. Jacques of Blevins and H. E. Lauterback of Hope Rt. 4 banged together on Third Street with very little damage resulting.

On South Main Friday heavy damage resulted to an auto driven by Mrs. Herbert Griffin and a truck driven by J. M. Green of Ozan when the vehicles collided.

Oil Workers About Agreed on Wage Hike

DENVER (AP) — The CIO Oil Workers International Union announced today it has reached agreements with nearly all major oil companies for a four per cent general wage increase.

The only exception is the Sinclair Oil Corp., and its subsidiaries, the union said. Negotiations with Sinclair are scheduled for July 29 in New York.

The four per cent increase will average about nine cents an hour per employee, a union spokesman said.

Among companies involved are Socony-Vacuum, Gulf, Shell, Texas Co., Richfield, Pure, several Standard companies and subsidiaries, Phillips, Union Oil Tide Water Associated, Continental, Atlantic and some smaller firms.

The union said the increase is comparable to those previously won by CIO Steelworkers and Auto Workers.

Sweden's population of 7,200,000 is about the same as that of Norway and Denmark together.

Its Pretty Hard to Ask the Boss for a Raise So the Family Can Keep Up With the Smiths

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Let us say your name is Jones, and your mind is now to keep up with the Smiths, who live next door.

It is a losing struggle. Every time Smith touches turns into money, and everything you touch turns into debt. Soon you have more and bigger bills than a convention of pelicans.

Your daughter, Susie, comes home and says "Jimmy Smith's daddy got another raise from his boss. What did you get from your boss today, daddy?" and before you can answer, your wife cuts in: "What did Mr. Squash ever give your daddy but a tired feeling?"

"There are a lot worse bosses than Mr. Squash," you say feebly, and your wife says, "Don't bother to name a dozen. Just name two." And after Susie goes to bed, the wife says, "Jones, you are going to ask Mr. Squash for more money. My mind is made up, so don't give me any ifs, ands or buts about it."

Is she crazy? Ask Mr. Squash for money? For blood, maybe yes, but for money—never.

Each day you creep home, the wife asks, "Did you?" and you say, "No dear, he didn't look like he was in a good mood." Finally, she says, "Jones, you know as well as I do that old man Squash will never look like he's in a good mood—unless the undertaker paints a smile on his face for his funeral. If you don't ask him for a raise tomorrow, well—the very next day I will dress Susie and myself in rags and go down to your office and tell Squash myself you have to have a raise."

3,313 Americans Among the 12,736 Prisoners Slated to Be Released by Chinese Reds

MUNSON (AP)—The secret record of the Panmunjom truce negotiations released today showed that the Communists have told the Allies they will return 12,736 prisoners of war—including 3,313 Americans.

The Communists gave this breakdown of the captives they will release:

3,313 Americans.
8,186 Koreans.
922 British.
12 French.
228 Turks.
15 Australians.
40 Filipinos.
14 Canadians.
22 Colombians.
6 South Africans.
3 Greek.
1 Belgian.
3 Japanese.

This makes a total of 4,577 prisoners of non-Korean nationality to be returned.

The Allies informed the Communists that about 5,000 Chinese prisoners and 69,000 North Korean captives will be returned to the Reds in the big exchange of prisoners.

The information was exchanged in a secret staff officers' session held at Panmunjom July 22. Major Col. James C. Murray spoke for the Allies and North Korean Col. Lee Pyong Il for the Reds.

The U. N. said that about 7,800 north Koreans and 14,500 Chinese captives will be turned over to the neutral nations repatriation committee.

The prisoners have re-nounced communism and do not want to return to their homelands.

The Communists staid yesterday they would return 300 prisoners a day, including sick and wounded, they did not give the number of disabled men they still hold.

They are in route to visit their parents in Luxor, Ark., when her car left the highway near Eureka.

Mrs. Jones told her brother, Joe Kirby Gallop of Luxor, before she died in a Memphis hospital, that she went to sleep while driving.

The two deaths raised Arkansas' violent death toll for the week to at least seven, two of them about 3,000 sick and wounded in U. N. camps.

The drowning victims were on a weekend camping trip when Mrs. Babb plunged into the river in an attempt to rescue her son.

The boy's father, J. Frank Babb, had tried twice to pull his son from the water without success.

Johnny Bagwell, 14, of Charleton, Ark., drowned in an Oklahoma lake yesterday while on a fishing trip.

Bagwell was visiting Arnel Brown of Oklahoma City. The two were fishing at Lake Texoma when Bagwell fell into the water and drowned.

ture you promise to tackle him yourself. "And tell him you won't settle for anything less than $7.50 more a week," says the wife. "Put your foot down with Mr. Squash? You can see yourself doing that — and pulling back a stub."

No sleep for you that night. You toss and turn, trying to list reasons to convince Mr. Squash he should give you a raise. And the only reason you can think of is, "I need more money." And you can hear M. R. Squash hollow back, "You need more money? Everybody needs more money — and more brains too."

All morning you try to bring yourself to go into the boss' office. But you can't. By lunchtime you decide to ask him for $5 instead of $7.50 and by 3 p. m. you are willing to settle for $2.50. By 5 p. m., you decide to drop the whole idea. Let your wife do anything she wants to.

Just then Miss McPheeters, the secretary, comes over and says, "Hey, Jones, the big man has been looking for you." "You mean Mr. Squash wants me? I'll go right in." You think fast. Now what has he found out? You can think of 10 things you did wrong during the week, but even Mr. Squash couldn't know about more than five, not unless somebody in the office is snitching on you. So you stumble in and stand before the great man's desk, vibrating like a banjo string.

"What're you shaking about, Jones?" growls Mr. Squash. "S-s-s-summer c-c-cold, s-s-sir." "Well don't breathe it on me." So you quit breathing.

Moments later the great man glances up in surprise, "You still here, Jones? What do you want?" You know what you want, but now you couldn't whisper it in his ear, let alone say it out loud. Bright has melted your bones to butter. "Y-y-you sent for me sir." Mr. Squash frowns in disbelief. He purses a buzzer, and when amiss McPheeters sticks her head in he says, "Did I send for Jones?" "Yes, sir." He looks puzzled. Then his face clears to its usual expression of suspicion.

"Oh, now I remember," he says. "Jones, one of the department heads reported he caught you working twice last week. That is the kind of thing we are trying to encourage around this place. So, starting next week, you'll be getting $10 more. Don't let it go to your head."

Go to your head? Bong! The world reels dimly as you hear Miss McPheeters say, "I think he's fainted sir," and Mr. Squash answers, "I don't care what he's done. He can't lie on the floor during office hours. Tell him to go home and lie on the floor."

So you float home in a cloud and when your wife asks how you managed to wrangle $10 out of Mr. Squash tell her airy, "He was putty in my hands — putty."

She marks a date on the calendar. In six months I want you to march back in and hit him up for another raise."

Oh, no. Not in six months, maybe a year, maybe five years. But not six months.

Cease Fire Only a
Armistice, Not Peace

AT THE FRONT IN KOREA — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor told his troops today the Korean cease-fire is only on armistice and not a peace.

In the absence of a true military victory, the 8th Army commander will ban any victory celebration and told his men they must be ready to fight again at a moment's notice.

The message was read to all troops of the 8th Army by their own commanders immediately after the 10 o'clock signing of the armistice at Panmunjom.

Cards and division headquarters amplified Taylor's expression and gave specific orders that there were to be no celebrations at the front if the final cease-fire comes at 10 o'clock tonight.

Greek Leader
Plastiras Dies

ATHENS, GREECE (AP) — Gen. Nicholai Plastiras, 89, veteran soldier and revolutionist who often headed Greece's government, died here yesterday. He had been stricken by a heart attack a week ago.

The tall, white-haired leader often considered leftist and anti-Royalist — served his last term as Premier from Oct. 27, 1951 to Oct. 7, 1952. At that time his coalition government with liberal leader Spathoulis Venizelos was defeated by the present regime of Alexander Papagos.

He had a serious heart ailment. Plastiras retired last autumn to a rented summer home in an Athens suburb. He never had married.

DOROTHY DIX

Home in The Wilds

Dear Miss Dix: I have read L. D.'s letter with interest and wonder if my experience couldn't help her. He says that women don't like the rugged life of the country. He is very much mistaken. It's just that city girls have no opportunity to meet country boys. After all, girls can't just pack up and move to the country and get a job like a man does.

I grew up in a large eastern city, and knew all the conveniences of luxuries from earlies childhood, but I always had a yearning for the great outdoors. When I finally met and fell in love with the boy I married, I was indeed lucky that he was a prospector. For the last six years I have enjoyed the great wilderness areas to be found in our United States, and believe me there are still many isolated, rugged places. At times we never saw another human being for six months. Often the only bed I had was a sleeping bag, with the sky and stars for my ceiling. I have learned not to be afraid in the woods, because animals don't attack unless they are molested. I've baked bread in the hot coals of a campfire, and learned to find the edible greens of the woods. Of course, it hasn't all been fun, but I wouldn't change my life for that of the city.

A LUCKY GIRL
City Girls May Be Envious
Answer: Thanks for giving such a vivid picture of life in the wilderness; I wish I could have printed all your letter. Many young ladies will be interested in your opinion, since I know from my mail that a number face the problem of leaving city streets for the countryside. The prospect is more frightening than alluring to some of them, but your experience will be at least interesting, and at most encouraging. As you say, most girls must seek jobs in the city, but quite a number meet, and fall in love with, men whose jobs ultimately take them to unfrequented areas. A wife who can face the sudden change with a spirit of adventure is the finest help the outdoor man can have. Girls who must remain in their city jobs will doubtless be envious. Well, maybe fortune will smile and send them a man with a pioneering future.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 18 and engaged to a girl of 16. We plan to be married in September. She is writing other boys, and refuses to stop until we are married. I don't think she's right.

Answer: She's not right, but at 16 it's often difficult to discriminate between right and the right to have fun. The whole thing adds up to the fact that the girl is too young to be tied down matrimonially, and it would be much better if you postponed the marriage for a year or two.

Dear Miss Dix: I'm going with a very handsome boy who doesn't seem to want to take me out very often. Should I continue going with him or go with someone else?

BONNIE
Answer: Both. Go with your handsome beau when he invites you, but don't turn down other dates. Keep in circulation and you may become more interesting to the elusive Romeo.

Dear Miss Dix: Before my husband and I were married, he had two children by a girl to whom he wasn't married. Lately I have learned that he is paying her bills, and giving her money that should be coming to me. As the children are being supported by welfare, they don't need his money.

B. B.
Answer: Your husband has a much finer sense of right and wrong than you have, even though he took a while to acquire it! He is certainly responsible for his children's support, welfare or no welfare. You knew he had the children, and it doesn't seem possible that you expected him to be heartless enough to abandon them. You think you have a lot to put up with! How about the unmarried mother of these two youngsters?

Her life certainly isn't a picnic and she's more than entitled to the little money she gets from your husband — who should be

Jet Ace Bags
Last Plane
of Korean War

SEOUL, KOREA — Capt. R. Ralph Parr, a jet ace from Apple Valley, Calif., shot down the last Communist plane of the Korean War today and the 5th Air Force announced its planes destroyed or damaged 1,710 MiGs during the three-year conflict.

Parr shot down a Russian-built He-42 transport plane at 12:25 p.m. 10-12 miles south of the Yalu River, less than 10 hours before the shooting halted.

American Sabre jets swept North Korean skies during the day but failed to score against any MiGs.

Credit for the last MiG kill of the war went to 2nd Lt. Sam P. Young, of Miami, Fla.

The 23-year-old Florida scored the kill at 6:35 p. m. last Wednesday.

Parr, in shooting down the Russian-made transport, boosted his score to 10 Red planes destroyed to become a double ace. He was credited with nine MiGs shot down and two damaged.

Arizona Wipes Out Group of Polygamists

By JAMES CARY

SHORT CREEK, Ariz. (UPI)—The multiple families of polygamists Short Creek were split yesterday to day by the wrath of Arizona.

The state hurled a united task force of 102 officers at the little settlement before dawn yesterday and took into custody 38 men, 50 women and 283 children.

It thus launched a supreme effort to wipe out forever a deep-rooted colony of polygamists that has operated near the Utah border for 26 years.

Gov. Howard Pyle called the cult "the foulest conspiracy you could possibly imagine." He said girls as young as 10 years of age were forced into marriages with men of all ages.

Half a dozen of these frightened brutes were arrested along with the older mates of the Short Creek patriarchs.

The adults were charged with nearly a dozen different offenses, including statutory rape, bigamy, open and notorious cohabitation, contributing to the delinquency of minors, and marrying the spouse of another.

Two men were accused of having six wives, two of having five, one of having four, and numerous others with having two or three.

Four of the wives reportedly were only 13 years old, two were 14 and two 15.

The raid—largest police action in the state's history—was

Why FORD'S your best buy!

"WORTH MORE" IS THE ANSWER... IT COSTS SO LITTLE TO BUY... SO LITTLE TO RUN... AND HAS SUCH HIGH RESALE VALUE!

The best buy in an automobile usually means the amount of pleasure and satisfaction the owner gets from his original dollars-and-cents investment, plus low day-to-day running costs, plus the amount of value he recovers when he sells his car.

What is it that makes Ford your best buy? Is it the fine styling and craftsmanship of its Crestmark Body... or its new "ride" with curve-hugging and bump-leveling qualities never before known in low-priced cars? Or is it Ford's famous V-8 or Mileage Maker Six? Maybe "Best buy" in engine power! Only Ford in its field offers you a choice of V-8 or Six. Ford has built more V-8's—over 13,000,000—than all other makers combined. And Ford's Six—the most modern in the industry—with Overdrive, won the Mobilgas Economy Run Grand Sweepstakes!

"Best buy" in power steering! Ford's Master-Guide (available on all V-8 models) supplies hydraulic "muscles"—automatically whenever you need them—to do the work of steering for you. All you do is guide the car. Makes all driving easier, safer. Parking's easy—requires only one-fourth of normal effort.

WORTH MORE WHEN YOU BUY IT... WORTH MORE WHEN YOU SELL IT
